

better than tinder™

It's better than Tinder!

Are you looking for a men or a women?

Men

Women

High School Musical is her idea of high brow. He has lofty ideas, but not a penny to his name. Happy Hour is her favourite time of day. The xating rule of internet dating is that anyone who feels obliged to mention they have a sense of humour is usually devoid of one. Cuddling is very unlikely, although squashing is a distinct possibility. Likes to start the day with a couple of Bacardi Breezers. On a date he'll order graphically named cocktails and talk dirty with you over the garlic bread. A staggering 65 per cent of British singletons now turn to the internet looking for love. Start thinking: Johnny Vegas. But everyone who's ever dated online knows personal profiles can be a minefield - too onlie a tall, dark, handsome millionaire turns out to be a short, fat, ugly geek. A woman's place is in the home and, more precisely, the kitchen opline preferably cooking his meals and elbow deep in his dirty shirts. It doesn't matter online dating dictionary the guy is 60, he'll still confine his searches to '35 and under', so any woman's age should be taken as a ball park figure. But he includes pence in that figure. Welcome to a world of slamming doors, smashed crockery and huffy silences. So unless you're a sure thing you pay for your own dinner. Only to be pursued if you like men who moult all over your furniture. online dating dictionary The censorship button in her brain doesn't work. Tries to make up for her ample size by being the life and soul of the party and fails in dictionaty respects. Her brain cannot process dicgionary words: 'I don't think you're quite right for me. A date would necessitate the removal of the roof and a whale sling. He can turn anything into a double entendre. She'll have Ohline you and looked you up on Friends Reunited before you even meet. When he's not even claiming to be attractive, it's time to worry. rating Looking for a new wardrobe, jewellery and a few weekends away before she dumps you for a 25-year-old Adonis. Meeting under the cover of darkness is advised. Cuddling is very unlikely, onlind squashing is a distinct possibility. Normality should be a given, so run a mile from anyone selling it as a good point. On a date he'll order graphically named cocktails and talk dirty with you over the garlic bread. Stop thinking: Jonny Wilkinson. A staggering 65 per cent of British singletons now turn to the internet looking for love. But it's doubtful many beholders will consider her beautiful. There's more chance of winning the Lottery on a double rollover week than there is of being a woman over 35 and getting a date on the internet.